LAW REPORT.

HIGH COURT.

Before the Chief Justice, Sir Samuel Griffith, Mr. Justice Barton, Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Higgins, Mr. Justice Duffy, Mr. Justice Powers, and Mr. Justice Rich.

QUESTION OF JURISDICTION.

The question raised by the decision on the point raised by Mr. Robert K.C. Moore, who sued for the Brisbane Milling Company, Ltd., in the appeal by the Commonwealth Government against the award of a jury in a suit brought before Mr. Justice Barton, was that the company was awarded damages on a charter-party in connection with the steamer Upsilon. Eckersley, a steerage labourer, said that he had been engaged by Mr. Moore, and when he met Hickey, who struck up an acquaintance. They had a drink together, and Mr. Moore said that he was to be paid £100. Mr. Moore raised the point on appeal that the Court had no jurisdiction to hear the appeal under section 22 of the Constitution, under which the Court was set up.

AN OUTTER APPEAL.

Mr. Flannery and Mr. Windley, instructed by Messrs. McHugh and Barnes, appeared for Clarence Walter Bridge, who was elected her last, in support of an appeal against an order of Mr. Justice Ferguson, made on November 7, and issued at the instance of Mr. Bowes, the Minister of Home Affairs. The appeal was heard by Mr. Justice Barton, when the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Barton, Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Duffy, and Mr. Justice Powers, and the court sat in open hearing. A decision was reserved, and after a hearing argument, the court was adjourned to a later date. The Chief Justice stated that the court considered that the matter should be referred to the Full Bench.

Argument on behalf of the appellant had not concluded when the court rose.

SUPREME COURT.

IN BANCO.

(Before Mr. Justice Street, Mr. Justice Sly, and Mr. Justice Gordon.)

NEILSON v. HAGH.

The cross appeal in Neilson v. Henry Hagh and Son, Ltd., are still partly heard, the reading of evidence occupying almost the whole of the day.

IN EQUITY.

Before the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice Simpson, DISPUTE ABOUT LEASED LAND.

YOUNG v. JONES.

Choy Young sued Frederick Charles Jones for alleged trespass in connection with certain land situated at Pearce. Mr. S. A. Thompson, for the plaintiff, and Mr. Dawson, instructed by Messrs. Dawson, Waldron, and Glover, for the defendant.

Young's case was that the defendant had on March 1, 1912, leased to Mr. Hine Loons about 10 acres of land at Pearce, with certain defined boundaries. The term was for 21 years, and the annual rent was £100. The Hine Loons entered into possession under the lease. He on July 13 last assigned all his title and interest in the lease to Choy Young, who was to pay him £100 per annum, and has observed the conditions of the lease. The plaintiff alleged that on about October 13 last the defendant, by his servant, entered upon the land, and took away a quantity of vegetables, and also turned his cattle, horses, and cows on the land, damaging trees, etc.

The plaintiff prayed that it may be declared that the plaintiff is entitled to the possession of the land in question. Plaintiff also prays the defendant may be restrained by injunction from entering on the land, or trespassing upon the same, or breaking up the plaintiff's crops. Damages were asked for the defendant's said wrongfull acts.

The defendant in his statement disputed the plaintiff's right to occupy portion of the land in question. He denied that the defendant had observed all the conditions in the lease, and that he had ploughed up land in the Hine Loons.

After argument the statement of claim was amended, a copy of which is to be served on defendant. The matter stands over for few days.

IN CHAMBERS.

(Before the Prothonotary, Mr. C. R. Walsh.)

FAIL OF A SCAFFOLDING.

Goodman Audley.

Mr. Chisholm, for the plaintiff, Karakow Matthews, and Landau, appeared for Garner Goodman, carpenter, in support of an application for leave to proceed with an action against the plaintiff for damages sustained in connection with injuries received while working at a building at Moama, notwithstanding the fact that plaintiff, Mr. Royce, instructed by Messrs. Gould and Shaw, appeared for the respondent, to oppose. The matter was argued on Friday.

The Prothonotary said he was of opinion that the applicant had failed to establish his case, and that it was not in the public interest to have the trial. The trial will be called on April 10.

INTRUMENTAL ARBITRATION COURT.

Industrial Court House, Queen's-square.—Before Mr. Justice Redden, at 10 a.m.: For hearing, Mr. Bellamy and Mr. G. T. Williams; for the respondent, Mr. J. D. Williams, and Mr. J. L. Williams, for the cause of cancellation of registration by Bellamy and Mr. G. T. Williams.

Mr. Bellamy, for the respondent, advised that the plaintiff had informed him that the general reason had been shown for the omission to give notice within six weeks of the accident. The application was, therefore, dismissed, but without costs.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar.)

LIQUIDATION ORDER DISCHARGED.

Mr. Edwin Clarke, Mr. T. M. Kelly, appeared for the applicant. The liquidation order was discharged.

Mr. John Lee, The meeting closed, and the president adjourned to meet again.

Mr. James Stark, Meeting was closed, and the public examination concluded.

The following appeal against "magistrate's" orders and convictions will be heard at the office of the Clerk of the Court.—George Wilkinson, senior, Industrial Protection Society, 100 Pitt-street, Sydney, and Mr. James Stark, solicitor, 100 Pitt-street, Sydney, for the cause of a similar application for the same.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Lynch, for the plaintiff, and Mr. Smart, for the defendant, adjourned to the 9th inst.

Mr. John Lee, The meeting closed, and the president adjourned to meet again.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Redden.)

CONSENTS TO APPEAL GRANTED.

Mr. F. Kirby, assistant secretary of the Employers' Federation, on behalf of Mr. McMurtry and Co., applied for consent to appeal against the award of the Professional and Technical Groups (Wearers, caretakers, and cleaners), Board No. 6.

Mr. Clod Dillon, representing the New South Wales Master Printers' Own Association, applied for a similar application for the cause of a similar award.

It was stated for the appellants that it made no difference if the parties desired any variation of hours or wages an appeal to so must be lodged with the court. This was the instruction given to the parties, and it had been afforded to argue on the question of hours. No evidence had been called, as the President had intimated he was familiar with the law, and the inquiry was investigated.

Mr. G. W. Morris, for the respondents, said that the party should attend to its own work, and the court should not be called upon to deal with appeals with matters on which the board had not yet been called. He would not be able to give any advice on the same.

His Honor said it was a most undesirable day for any appeal to be lodged. The court should not be called upon to deal with appeals with matters on which the board had not yet been called. He would not be able to give any advice on the same.

Mr. J. S. Thom, on behalf of the New South Wales Master Printers and Connected Trades Association, applied for consent to appeal against the award of the Professional and Technical Groups (Wearers, caretakers, and cleaners), Board No. 6.

Mr. A. R. Croft, opposition secretary on behalf of the respondents, said that the appeal had been adjourned on Monday. Mr. Thom said that the 30 days had really expired on Sunday, but appellants had been informed they could not be heard before Tuesday. IN EQUITY.

Before the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice Simpson, DISPUTE ABOUT LEASED LAND.

YOUNG v. JONES.

Choy Young sued Frederick Charles Jones for alleged trespass in connection with certain land situated at Pearce. Mr. S. A. Thompson, for the plaintiff, and Mr. Dawson, instructed by Messrs. Dawson, Waldron, and Glover, for the defendant.

Young's case was that the defendant had on March 1, 1912, leased to Mr. Hine Loons about 10 acres of land at Pearce, with certain defined boundaries. The term was for 21 years, and the annual rent was £100. The Hine Loons entered into possession under the lease. He on July 13 last assigned all his title and interest in the lease to Choy Young, who was to pay him £100 per annum, and has observed the conditions of the lease. The plaintiff alleged that on about October 13 last the defendant, by his servant, entered upon the land, and took away a quantity of vegetables, and also turned his cattle, horses, and cows on the land, damaging trees, etc.

The plaintiff prayed that it may be declared that the plaintiff is entitled to the possession of the land in question. Plaintiff also prays the defendant may be restrained by injunction from entering on the land, or trespassing upon the same, or breaking up the plaintiff's crops. Damages were asked for the defendant's said wrongfull acts.

The defendant in his statement disputed the plaintiff's right to occupy portion of the land in question. He denied that the defendant had observed all the conditions in the lease, and that he had ploughed up land in the Hine Loons.

more likely to hold all their gains and to realize the fears of the Germans, who even in September were on the point of evacuating Douai and Lille. The new army will be directed by a staff accustomed to operations on the scale of modern warfare and against lines of trenches, all three of which must be taken if a first success is to have any value. They will not be left without the necessary reserves as their comrades were at Neuve Chapelle and Loos. If this direction is secured they will have the one element which has been wanting to secure them a great offensive victory. Their gallantry is beyond doubt or praise, and it is clear now that they are in no way inferior to the enemy in aircraft, in artillery, or in supplies of munitions.

OPENINGS FOR INTRIGUE.

It should be an opening for intrigues, and the efforts of some Labour members to give the cause a chance of forming another Cabinet lack nothing in vigour and persuasiveness. Why should the Government resign just to throw the Labour party into opposition or force it to the country? Has it not a majority in Parliament? Would it not, but for the interference of the conference, still retain its solidarity? Indeed the cause of the conference should really make an opportunity for consolidating the party against the coming general elections; and why should not Mr. Meagher, for instance, gather up the broken threads and bind them into a cord stronger than ever? Nobody wants a dissolution at the present moment. Even the conference, if managed carefully, might be made to see the error of its ways and give Mr. Holman another chance.

The conference, once it was realized that its action had created chaos and was bringing judgment down upon it, was a thunderbolt, such as it has been the give-and-take of argument and protest among a distracted body of Labour politicians; and since Mr. Holman refuses to make terms or submit to a compromise he may upset everything.

Announcement was made, in the Labour Conference last night that the Government would meet to day to choose another leader.

The assumption clearly is that Mr. Holman will advise the Governor to send, say, for Mr. Meagher, or for somebody in the party likely to be able to carry on. But Mr. Holman may refuse.

To this extraordinary stubbornness on the Premier's part, if he is displayed, we can only say that at last he will become logical. To a man with any sense of self-respect left there could, of course, be no alternative but resignation; and Mr. Holman is head of the Government has no constitutional relation under such conditions with anybody but the Governor. Once he decided to resign he could no longer parley with the Labour Conference; and indeed he had no business to allow that body to dictate to him at all. He represents the State and not a section of people in it. His warrant to form a Ministry came from the Governor, not from any conference, though the latter may have endorsed him as leader of the Labour party in the first instance, and to the Governor alone is he accountable and to the Governor alone is he accountable under the Constitution.

It is possible to argue, no doubt, that while a majority of members remains upon the Ministerial side of the House the Governor is bound to give the next likely leader a chance of showing what he can do in Cabinet making.

The majority becomes his best identification of success. But then, the Governor must be sure that the name submitted to him will be acceptable to it as Premier.

In the present instance all the evidence points to disunion and disruption, not to unity of aim and purpose. One Labour member has resigned rather than submit to the tyranny of the conference which has created the present crisis; and because of the crisis the Government is resuming.

By every precedent the Governor should either grant Mr. Holman a dissolution, or ask for it, or send for Mr. Wade, if that advice is offered. To take any middle course would simply play into the hands of the section of Labour members in the Legislative Assembly that has always been a thorn in the side of the Government; and the occasion calls for straightforward dealing not for subversion to any backstairs manipulation, which may bring Mr. Meagher in as Premier. The latter contingency is quite impossible; it would be the last outrage upon the community. If Mr. Holman's devous course has made him many enemies, it is certain that Mr. Meagher as his successor would cause throughout Australia humiliation and disgrace, and in this State apprehension as well as shame. A wave of indignation would ultimately sweep everybody concerned in such an appointment into the pit.

There is the consolation, no doubt, that whatever happens now in the way of intrigue, the grand hand of death would soon turn away.

The defence of Verdun has taught us three lessons, all highly encouraging. We know that the allied aircraft are powerful enough to protect their own lines and to carry out the most accurate reconnaissances, as they did before the September advance.

REBELLION ENDS.

REBELS SURRENDER.

VERDUN.

FIERCE ENEMY ATTACKS.

ZEPPELIN DESTROYED.

All the rebels in Dublin have surrendered unconditionally, while those in country districts are surrendering to mobile columns.

It is stated that the damage in Dublin exceeds £2,000,000.

French airmen were very active during April, thirty-one aircraft being brought down.

Powerful German attacks in close formation against the French north of Mort Homme (west of the Meuse) were repulsed with heavy losses.

On Sunday the Germans released gas over a front of 2000 yards against the British lines. The last rebel fortress, Jacobs's factory, was captured on Sunday, being finally subdued by artillery.

Aerial reconnaissances from Khargh completely frustrate enemy movements. The British have occupied Meghara (120 miles west of Cairo).

In Petrograd there is universal admiration for General Townshend, who, it is stated, only capitulated through hunger and scurvy.

A Copenhagen message states that French and English airmen attacked a Zeppelin near Zeebrugge. The Zeppelin caught fire and was destroyed.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK.

Lloyd's report that the British steamer City of Lucknow (3677 tons) has been sunk.

KUT-EH-AMARA.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday. The following cable message was sent yesterday by the Governor-General to the Secretary of State for the Colonies:—Would he be pleased to let me know if his Excellency could be held before the Majority of the Australian and people of Australia, I would appreciate your giving them their personal sympathy and support in the gallant services of the Royal Australian Naval Division? This division has distinguished itself in the service of the Royal Australian Naval Division.

To the Vicar of India the following message was called:—The Vicar of India, Mr. G. Wilson, has been bestow upon Colonel Charles Ryan, Royal Army Medical Corps.

Major Norman Hamilton (New Zealand), Major Gellibrand, and Captain William Foster (Australia) have been decorated with the Distinguished Service Order.

SUGGESTION IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 1. Arrivals.—At London: Zealandia's chief engineer, General Sir William Birdwood commanding all the Australian and New Zealanders thus far sent to the Anzac army composed of two army corps.

The government could powerfully encourage Australian recruiting, and would also be popular with the entire troops, owing to General Birdwood's remarkable hold on the Anzacs. If General Birdwood is promoted, he would take over the command of the First Anzac Army Corps, an Imperial officer who fought with the Australians, probably succeeding General Godley. These arrangements would stimulate Australian sentiment, and representations are being made to the War Office.

WESTERN FRONT.

V. VERDUN.

ENEMY ATTACKS REPULSED.

LONDON, May 1. A French communiqué says:—The Germans made a powerful attack in close formation against the heights north of Mort Homme (in the Verdun sector, west of the Meuse), which were captured by us the previous day. Our tanks, and machine-guns fire up the assault, and inflict enormous losses.

Three counter-attacks against a trench north of Cumières (west of the Meuse) were repulsed with serious losses.

It is officially announced in Paris that the Germans were very active during April, especially in the Verdun sector. We brought down 31 aircraft, nine falling in our lines and 22 in the German lines, either in flames or completely out of action. During April six French aircraft which were worsted fell in the enemy's lines.

An examination of British official reports for April shows that 72 aeroplanes were destroyed, of which four were British, 20 French, and 48 German.

On Sunday the Germans released gas over a front of 2000 yards against the British lines. The last rebel fortress, Jacobs's factory, was captured on Sunday, being finally subdued by artillery.

GERMAN COMMUNIQUE.

A German communiqué states that the plotters at Kiel-Flenswick include four generals, 240 British and 250 Indian officers. General Townshend has been allowed to live.

RUSSIA'S ADMIRATION.

It is officially announced in Petrograd that there is universal admiration for General Townshend, who only capitulated through hunger and scurvy.

In the direction of Baghdad the Russians pressed the Turks towards the west, capturing artillery.

AUSTRALIAN'S SORROW.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday. The following cable message was sent yesterday by the Governor-General to the Secretary of State for the Colonies:—Would he be pleased to let me know if his Excellency could be held before the Majority of the Australian and people of Australia, I would appreciate your giving them their personal sympathy and support in the gallant services of the Royal Australian Naval Division? This division has distinguished itself in the service of the Royal Australian Naval Division.

To the Vicar of India the following message was called:—The Vicar of India, Mr. G. Wilson, has been bestow upon Colonel Charles Ryan, Royal Army Medical Corps.

Major Norman Hamilton (New Zealand), Major Gellibrand, and Captain William Foster (Australia) have been decorated with the Distinguished Service Order.

SUGGESTION IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 1. Arrivals.—At London: Zealandia's chief engineer, General Sir William Birdwood commanding all the Australian and New Zealanders thus far sent to the Anzac army composed of two army corps.

The government could powerfully encourage Australian recruiting, and would also be popular with the entire troops, owing to General Birdwood's remarkable hold on the Anzacs. If General Birdwood is promoted, he would take over the command of the First Anzac Army Corps, an Imperial officer who fought with the Australians, probably succeeding General Godley. These arrangements would stimulate Australian sentiment, and representations are being made to the War Office.

IRELAND.

THE REVOLT ENDS.

ALL REBELS SURRENDER

DUBLIN.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT TWO MILLIONS STERLING.

LONDON, May 1. A French communiqué says:—The rebels in Dublin have surrendered. The rebels in country districts are surrendering to mobile columns. It is reported that the arms are likely to be handed in to-day at Cork city. The rebels at Enniscorthy on Sunday night offered to surrender their leaders and arms if the rank and file were allowed to return to their homes. They were informed that the surrendered must be unconditional. This was accepted at 6 o'clock this morning.

I AM READY.

The Countess Markievicz, who was commanding the rebels at the Royal College of Surgeons, on St. Stephen's Green, defended it stubbornly until Sunday morning. Then the white flag replaced the green flag. A British officer ordered the garrison to surrender. At 11 o'clock p.m. nearly the countess, in a green tunic, and hat with a green feather, green puttees, and green boots, came out, followed by men marching in twos. She led the men to the British troops, and saluted the officers commanding. She kissed her revolver before surrendering. The men were unarmed. "I am ready," they said. The men were arrested, and marched with an armed escort.

Dublin Castle, where 700 rebels had gathered. Many Sinn Feiners were released. The countess was allowed to return to her home. The rebels were marched to the Four Courts area. The rebels were treated with courtesy. The countess was given a room in the Four Courts area.

FALSE REPORTS.

The first offer to surrender came dramatically about 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, as the crowd slowly closed on the rebels to the main strengths of the Sackville street area. Suddenly a white flag appeared above the smoke of the Post Office. Pease and Connolly, who were badly wounded, emerged, and signed an unconditional surrender. Half of Sackville street is ashes. Handicrafts shops and businesses are in ruins. Almost the only things untouched are the monuments. The deaths numbered hundreds. The roofs in the Four Courts area are littered with bodies.

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY.

The countess was allowed to return to her home. The rebels were marched to the Four Courts area. The rebels were treated with courtesy. The countess was given a room in the Four Courts area.

NEWSPAPER SUGGESTION.

The "Daily Chronicle" advised that the rebels be treated with little vindictiveness. The Court may find Sir Roger Casement guilty. The Government should study General Botha's policy. He divided the rebels into three types. First, the leaders, like Maritz, who were bought with German gold, on whom General Botha was prepared to inflict capital punishment; others, like De Wet, whose motives were less reprehensible, received periods of detention imprisonment; while the rank and file were treated with conspicuous leniency. There were comparatively few Irishmen who were conscious agents in the plot.

THE MILITARY.

The military declare that the Sinn Fein sharpshooters were remarkably accurate in the early stages of the conflict. The rebels are the best marks of the conflict. The rebels are the best marks of the conflict.

THE GOVERNMENT.

The first step taken by the insurgents was the circumlocution of reports that Verdon had fallen, that Holland had declared war on Britain, and the British fleet had been defeated in the North Sea, losing 18 ships to Germany's eight. The rebels also issued a broadsheet asserting that the troops in Ireland had been everywhere repulsed, and the populace was siding with the rebels.

THE GO

CRISIS ANNOUNCED.

UNIONS DEMAND MORE POWER.

INDUSTRIALIST DOMINATION.

"Without the announcement of the Holman Ministry's determination to resign was made by the secretary to the Parliamentarian Committee, Mr. S. Blacklock, Mr. L. H. Holman, the minister was not interested beyond a little before becoming the focus of the conference. It was apparent, however, that delegates were rather surprised. They readily seized upon the suggestion that was subsequently thrown out that there was a chance of the party, in due course, to day, electing another leader and proceeding to carry on. Doubtless the matter will be again fully discussed to-night at the conference.

"After more or less desultory discussions on minor matters, the conference proceeded to deal with an attempt made by the 'industrialist' section to alter the basis of representation at the conference in favour of the larger unions. An animated debate followed, in which a clash of ideas developed. The industrialists succeeded in altering the rule by 84 to 43 votes. But this is imperative, because, to be effective, it required a two-thirds majority, of which it fell short.

The first taste of the power of the new industrial executive was given towards the close of the session, when Mr. Blakeney, Mr. W. J. Storay, and Mr. Lestrade, a defeated member of the old executive, this was the first time in the history of the party that the defeated members of all the executive houses had compelled the retirement into that portion of the hall set aside for the public.

Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald, M.L.C., as president, and the leader of the Government in the Upper House, desired to say a few words, the conference adjourned. Mr. Fitzgerald, by the way, has not yet delivered the annual presidential address to the conference.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

Mr. Farrar, M.L.C., at the opening of the conference introduced the president-elect, Mr. J. Doyle, and handed over to him the insignia of office.

Mr. Doyle, who was received with applause, said he hoped the conference would be diligent in carrying out his duties.

He was not conversant with the party's organisation, but would do his duty.

THE HOLMAN GOVERNMENT.

Mr. J. Lynch, ex-M.L.A., asked whether the resignation of the Holman Government had been received.

The President: I have received no information.

The President announced the following telegram from the Party's Political Leader:

"Dear Sirs—The Labour Conference last night carried vote of confidence in the Holman Government, and Holman as leader of His Honourable Labour party.

CONFIDENCE.

Mr. E. Hickey, a member of the Labour party, and the parliamentary Labour party held a protracted meeting, from half past 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and decided that there was no alternative but to approve of the confidence in their resignations to His Excellency the Governor.

A delegate: Is this the reply?

No reply was given, but a few words later Mr. Woods, a delegate, rose and asked what attitude the rank and file behind the Government took up.

Another delegate, in a spirit of order, submitted that we agreed on the previous evening that the reply of the Ministry would be received on Wednesday evening.

The President: We have had a long discussion on this matter until we have received your official intimation about it.

Mr. Woods: Mr. Hickey is secretary of the party, and I ask him the question I put just now.

The President: We will pass on to business.

Mr. J. Storay, M.L.A., said that Ministers had handed in their resignations in the party, and after an all-day debate the resignations were accepted by H. T. Holman, the Governor, and he did not go until after 10 p.m.

A telegram was received from the Co-operative League as follows: "This morning the action of the conference in censuring the Ministry. We consider it will damage Labour's election prospects, and in view of the present position of the Co-operative electorate remains loyal to the Ministry, and to the platform." This was signed by F. L. George, president; W. C. Gough, secretary; E. Hickey, E. Sammons, and F. Gough, committee members.

PUBLIC SERVICE PENALTIES.

Mr. Everingham (Postal Workers' Union) moved that it be a recommendation from the conference to the next Federal Conference that the Public Service Act be amended so that no officer should not be punished twice for the one offence. The motion was carried twice.

He also moved that the conference recommend that the Commonwealth Arbitration (Public Service) Act be amended by an additional clause being inserted to make provision for the award of compensation to the Commissioner, or other officers of the department, for breaches of any award of the Commonwealth Arbitration Court. The motion was carried.

LINE OF DEMARCACTION.

A motion was brought forward by the Australian Letter Carriers Association that the Public Service Act be amended so that the employees of the Post Office could receive on where the instructions given to the employees were to be determined, not by the person responsible for them, but by some other person outside who did not know the facts.

Captain Tomba, M.L.A., thought the time had arrived when it was necessary for the Post Office to take certain steps to lay down such a line.

Mr. G. R. W. McDonald, who has resigned his seat for Bingara, gave his views on the situation as far as far as he could see.

"I don't," said Mr. McDonald "that during parts of my career I have been able to see the domination of the P.L.L. Conference. My quarrel with the executive in connection with the proposed referendum during war time had no hearing whatever on my resignation. Neither had the probable fact that the industrialists would have nominated a candidate against me at the general election, or refused to endorse me as the Labour party's candidate. On the other hand, I am quite unable to understand the attitude of the Caucus in admitting that members of the party in the Commonwealth Parliament should be nominated by the Red Cross executive, and that was the acquirement of the Caucus, and that was the acquirement of the Labour party in the view taken by the P.L.L. Conference that it had control over the Parliamentary Labour party. I was neither secretary nor treasurer of the P.L.L. Conference nor by my own executive, I am quite unable to understand the attitude of the Caucus in admitting that members of the party in the Commonwealth Parliament should be nominated by the Red Cross executive, and that was the acquirement of the Caucus, and that was the acquirement of the Labour party in the view taken by the P.L.L. Conference that it had control over the Parliamentary Labour party."

Mr. Willis (Illawarra Minerals) concurred that it was only the duty of the party to do what it could do, and that the party had to do what it could do in order to see that they got a fair deal after that.

The motion was carried on the voices.

BANISH OR REINSTATE?

Mr. S. Blacklock, M.L.A., moved "That all industrial unions shall be represented at the P.L.L. Conferences on behalf of one delegate for each 1000 members or part thereof." He said that under the new constitution the industrial unions, representing 150 members, is entitled to one delegate, and the industrial unions, and altogether 1500 members.

The industrial unions and the big bulk of the cash to organise and run the industrial labour movement. The metal trades unions are composed, and absolutely of actual workers and true industrial labourers. On the other hand, while recognising that the metal trades are the backbone of the party, the industrial unions, we find that the personnel of the leagues is to a great extent made up of business men, lawyers, employers, and other people, who are not industrialists, who did not know the circumstances, the sooner we have it the better for everyone."

LINE OF CLEAVAGE.

Mrs. Dillon said this question was the cleavage of the parties and unions. (hear her.) We have come to the parting of the ways. To carry the resolution would mean the wiping out of the leagues. If the unions wanted to do this, we must do it. The resolution, if carried, would wipe out every woman in the movement, and there were just as many women—perhaps more, since the war began—exercising voice in New South Wales.

Miss Dillon said she would decline to talk against such a rabble, and the men to do their organising work for them, and they should be considered. She concluded her speech with a hearty cheer.

WAR PENSIONS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.—According to a return issued to-day by the Federal Treasury, 1042 war pensions were granted last month, bringing the total to 10,000. The pensions are to be paid in monthly instalments of £100,000, for a period of 10 years, for which the annual liability is £100,000. Victoria has 2300 pensions, of an annual cost of £71,000; New South Wales having 2000 pensions, costing £60,000 a year.

"Colonel Sands acted rightly," said the foremost, he said. It would not be argued that the women had a disproportionate representation, or were more numerous as delegates, than the value of their work demanded. If it could be shown that the industrialists had a greater number of delegates than unions there might be found an argument for the resolution. But the facts were all the other way. This, he urged, was no time to create further antagonism. At the least they ought to try to get the police seriously handicapped, and it was incumbent on them to consolidate their ranks instead of dissolving them.

Mr. L. H. Holman said the objection to the resolution was ill-founded. The small unions and leagues would not be prejudiced. The large industrial unions form the cash for the organisation, and the smaller ones need better representation.

Mr. Warman, representing the Vacuum Oil Company and the Texas Oil Company,

Mr. Black appeared for the British Imperial Oil Co. to show cause why that company should not be excluded from any increase in price.

Mr. Justice Edmunds said the reason for disqualification was that British Imperial Oil Company had been instrumental in getting the former to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Black said the company made its own oil, and the cost of materials had risen considerably.

SHAKESPEARE.
THE TERCENTENARY.

Three hundred and fifty-two years ago there was born into the world, at Stratford-upon-Avon, whose life has had an inestimable effect upon the world, and exactly three hundred years ago to-day he died there. William Shakespeare died on April 23, 1616—corresponding in old style to May 3 new style—and the world is to-day commemorating the existence upon this earth of a man whose writings have proved one of the profound influences upon human development. In Sydney our commemoration is to take the form of a memorial matinée at the Adelphi Theatre this afternoon.

Shakespeare! We have his plays, and the world will have them always. Those we know, but what do we know of the man who wrote them? Not a great deal. "All that is known with any degree of certainty concerning the authorship of Shakespeare," he said, "is that he was born at Stratford-upon-Avon, married and had children there—went to London, where he became a member of the King's Men, and died there." Since his death efforts have been made to throw light upon his life, but nothing has been learned of him. He may have spent years in Italy, in the task, and have failed. Shakespeare's life is wrapped in obscurity. And even the writer of "Shakespeare's Life" has the books that have written about the man and his plays would fill a library—and know next to nothing about him. When all is said and done, he is still the man with Emerson. Shakespeare is the only biographer of Shakespeare. "Even he," says Emerson, "has not attempted more than can tell nothing except the skeleton of the man, which is to our most apprehensive and sympathetic soul. He cannot step off from his tripod and stand and look at his inspirations. So far from Shakespeare being a man known to us, he is the one person, in all modern history, known to us. What point of morals, of manners, of economy, of philosophy, of religion, of taste, of the spirit of life, has he settled?" What mystery has he not signified? His knowledge of what office, or function, or station in life he had, we have not remembered. What King has he not known? State? What maiden has not found him finer than her deceiver? What lover has he not outwitted? What sage has he not outseen?

"IN ITS GREAT MORNING."

Shakespeare, for all we know so little of him, had become a famous and popular writer of plays before he was 20, and it has been said that he was dead at 52. But we know that time to 1916 when he was not well known, among English-speaking people. Some 40 years after Edward VI's reign, when Shakespeare was born, in its great morning, and it cannot be doubted that his reputation was never greater than in this tercentenary year, when great men have lived and died since 1616, he was very little known. And his reputation has increased with the years—a reputation that is to be measured not by the number of times his plays are performed—though in truth his plays always being played in some part of the world or other—but by the sale of his works and by the number of his students in our universities, colleges, and schools. Next to the Bible, Shakespeare is the "greatest seller" in the world.

THE SUPREME TEST.

"He was not of an age, but for all time." That is why Sir Herbert Tree plays him today, as all the greatest actors of to-day and of yesterday have played him. That is why, like the greatest of all actors, he is immortal. Shakespeare is that they themselves can hope to live in ever. I am sure that an understanding of woman-kind as a fact," said Margaret Austin, in New York recently, "and that Shakespeare was an creator of marvellous characters. We are almost as likely to see why every actress wishes to play Portia, Juliet, Rosalind, Beatrice, Cleopatra, and Lear, as we are to see why the publicans, and Laertes, and Ophelia, to say nothing of the many Octavia's."

And this after the lapse of 300 years!

SHAKESPEAREANA IN THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

By W. H. FOULDS, Principal Librarian.

The Shakespeare collection of the Public Library, embodying the General Reference Library and the Mitchell Library, is the largest in Australia, and is one of the objects of the Shakespeare Memorial Fund in this state to make it one of the most important collections of its kind. There are many rare editions of Shakespeare's works, it contains works on the poet and original sources of his plays of considerable value to scholars, and it is known that in the English language alone there have been issued over 12,000 different editions of the collected works of Shakespeare, and all but five of these have been included in the collection. The Mitchell Library does not contain a large proportion of these different editions, the collection being limited to those which are of special value to scholars.

The gem of the collection is undoubtedly the First Folio, which was presented to the Mitchell Library by Sir Sidney Lee in 1901. This copy is one, and is high up on the comparative list of copies in Sir Sidney Lee's census of the First Folios. A copy of the Fourth Folio, printed in 1685, nearly eight years after Shakespeare's death, it came from the press of the probable editor, William Jaggard, whose death is also mentioned on the title-page in place of his name. The volume is of very great importance in the history of literature. Noteworthy is the editio princeps of England's greatest genius, but from a literary point of view, it is the most priceless contribution to the world's heritage.

The first edition among other things of considerable interest to Shakespeare scholars, has a curious woodcut of Macbeth, in which Shakespeare is shown as a Falstaff-like character, and the Three Witches as old women.

Macbeth is dressed in a Sir Walter Raleigh costume, and the Three Witches make their entrance from Cinthio, and the story of Apollonius and Silvia is employed in "Twelfth Night."

The fact that Shakespeare's manuscripts, now lost, were used as conclusive evidence of his familiarity with that language. The translation of Seneca's tragedies, published in 1681, is another of the collected works, and is of considerable interest to the contemporary drama.

The General Reference Library possesses the Boydell collection of Shakespeare illustrations, the best and most valuable collection in the world, and it is the largest in Australia.

The collection also possesses facsimiles of two other editions of the First Folio, printed in 1685, and 1687, in the Mitchell Library. It is a larger than the third earlier edition, and is of interest to scholars, the number of English works on the history of Shakespeare, and communes on his plays, the library possesses editions of the plays in French, Italian, and German, together with some continental and foreign editions. The volume is in octavo, and the number of books which have appeared in foreign languages on Shakespeare, there are many, and for the first time a complete dramatic study on the Continent than is to be found in England. Even French has many translations of Shakespeare, although the French critics are not so exacting as the English, and their editions require no evidence to support its authenticity.

The whole edition of the First Folio, probably the best and most valuable, is about 260 are known to survive, but fewer than 20 of these are complete. Shakespeare scholars in Australia are a storehouse of knowledge, and the Mitchell Library has a large collection of their manuscripts.

The first edition of the First Folio, printed in 1685, is in the Mitchell Library.
